The Markets

Surprise!

Markets were remarkably sanguine following the election of Donald Trump to the presidency of the United States.

There was a moment of panic. As election results rolled in on Tuesday, Gold prices rose and Treasury yields fell, as investors sought safe havens. Dow Futures, a measure of overnight sentiment, fell by 4 percent, and Standard & Poor's 500 futures dropped 5 percent. (When index futures trade lower before the market opens, it is an indication investors expect the actual index to trade lower when the market opens.)

5 Tax Tasks to Complete by the End of This Year

Around the holidays you often see articles about things you absolutely must do now before the year ends. Yet by Thanksgiving, the year is already almost over. When are you supposed to fit in anything new around year-end work deadlines, family visits and preparations for holiday parties and gatherings?

From a financial perspective, there really are some things you need to do before December 31 to gain certain benefits or avoid penalties. We wanted to share these items early, while there is plenty of time to achieve them without having to rush. As always, please speak with your CPA for details on whether these items are appropriate for your individual situation.
