

The Client Connection

The Markets

Markets hate uncertainty - and that may create opportunities.

Last week, investors experienced another bout of election jitters, and the Standard & Poor's 500 (S&P 500) Index fell for the ninth straight session.

The CBOE Volatility Index (VIX), a.k.a. the fear gauge, which measures the expected volatility of the S&P 500 during the next 30 days, was up more than 40 percent for the week. The shift in the VIX reflected investors' concerns about stock market performance after the election. Many think the next four weeks will offer a rough ride.

Click here to read the entire article.

History of Past Presidential Elections and Their Effect On Stock Market

The highly anticipated US presidential election is just only a day away and while some might be gazing into their crystal balls to catch a slight glimpse of a mystical prediction, there are others deploying highly sophisticated econometric & statistical models hoping to make a quick buck out of their analyses.

As verified by Google's 20 million search results, the golden questions hover around the likes of "stocks to buy if Candidate X wins" or "stocks to buy if Candidate Y wins" in every new round of presidential campaign. It is thus interesting to look at the data and research carried out by various sources to address the timely relationship between politics and stock market behaviour.

Click here to read the entire article.

Coronado Veterans Day Holiday Schedule

The City of Coronado will observe the Veterans Day holiday on Friday, November 11, and reminds residents and businesses of what municipal facilities will remain open and what will close.

Police, Fire and Lifeguard safety personnel will be on duty. Public Services will be on call over the holiday to respond to emergencies but will not sweep streets on Friday. EDCO will perform regular residential trash collection that week.

Click here to see holiday schedule.

Stay connected:
(619) 554-1300

Read Q3
Report

Read LPL
Weekly Market
Commentary

Watch our Video

Referring your family and friends is the best compliment that you can pay us!