

The Client Connection

The Markets

Attention investors: U.S. interest rates may be moving up and it might happen this year.

During last Friday's speech at the Federal Reserve's annual economic symposium in Jackson Hole, Wyoming, Fed Chairwoman Janet Yellen signaled that a rate hike is probably coming but, as usual, she didn't offer any specifics about the timing:

"...Indeed, in light of the continued solid performance of the labor market and our outlook for economic activity and inflation, I believe the case for an increase in the federal funds rate has strengthened in recent months. Of course, our decisions always depend on the degree to which incoming data continues to confirm the Committee's outlook."

5 Life Insurance Questions You're Too Embarrassed to Ask

Applying for life insurance means answering some pretty personal questions. For example: How much do you weigh? (We're talking the actual number, not the aspirational estimate on your driver's license.) Do you smoke marijuana? Whom do you want to get the life insurance money when you die? Wait - not your spouse?
